"Social Justice and Socialism."

The editor of The North American Review shows by the figures the growth of the Socialist party in the United States, and, as of more significance, how the responses, elicited by skillful but specious appeal have been favorable to Socialistic doctrines. He says:

"It clearly behooves us to examine and study the latest declaration of doctrines made by the Socialist party in the hope of winning a more general support from the American people."

Assuming as a major premise that "the overwhelming majority of the people of America are being forced under a yoke of bondage by soulless industrial despotism," the Socialist party proposes to remedy the condition thus depicted by affirmative acts designed to accomplish the following results:

"Abolition of the Senate and the veto power of the president."

"Adoption of initiative, referendum and recall, nationally as well as locally."

In other words, vest all power in legislation in the mass of the people, retaining only a semblance of representative government in the House of Representatives, whose members would be subject to recall. Under this system, as now practiced in Oregon, a majority of the votes cast through the country would enact any proposed law.

"Abolition of the power usurped by the supreme court of the United States to pass upon the constitutionality of the legislation enacted by Congress."

This would enable the majority of voters to pass upon the constitutionality of the laws which they themselves had enacted. The effect would be identical with that of the proposed plan to permit the people to recall decisions, but the operation would be less cumbersome.

"Abolition of the federal district courts and the United States circuit court of appeals. The election of all judges for short terms."

Thus virtually establish popular government work and substitute direct hire of labor or awarding of contracts to co-operative groups of workers.

"Establish minimum wage scales."

"Establish old age pensions and enforce upon the state and all employers a system of insurance against industrial diseases, accidents and deaths without cost to the workers."

"The immediate government relief of the unemployed by the extension of all useful public works. All persons employed on such works to be engaged directly by the government under a work-day of not more than eight hours, and not less than the prevailing union wages. The government also to establish employment bureaus to lend money to states and municipalities without interest for the purpose of carrying on public works, and to take such other measures within its power as will lessen the widespread misery of the workers caused by the misrule of the capitalist class."

A comprehensive programme involving enormous expenditures of money whose sources are not indicated.

"Collective ownership and democratic management of railroads, telegraphs, telephones, and all other social means of transportation and of all large-scale industries."

"Government ownership is understandable, but 'collective ownership,' even as defined by Jaures, has yet to be made clear to American minds. 'Democratic management' of great organizations is wholly enigmatical."

"Collective ownership of land wherever practicable, and in cases where such ownership is impracticable, the appropriation by taxation of the annual rental value of all land held for speculation."

Obviously the question of "practicality" is here so transcendent as to render speculation as to method futile. "Collective ownership and democratic management of the banking and currency system."

Again arises the Socialist distinction between government and collective ownership. As stated, the proposition might easily be deprived of the word "system," which seems to be curiously lacking in co-relation with either democratic or collective direction of fiscal business.

Such are the chief "measures of relief" which are offered by the Socialist party, not as an end, but frankly as only "a preparation of the workers to seize the whole powers of government in order that they may thereby lay hold of the whole system of socialized industry and thus come to their rightful inheritance."

MEN WANTED

On Friday, June 7, a number of employees of the Boston Elevated Railway Company left their positions without notice and went on a strike, which now exists. These represented almost entirely the newer, younger, more inexperienced men. A large majority of the men, including nearly all of the older, responsible men, remained with the company and have faithfully served it in operating its car service, which has been well maintained over its entire system.

The company wants at once suitable experienced motormen and conductors to fill the places of men who have left the service, and offers attractive, permanent employment not only to these, but to other worthy persons who can qualify.

ABOUT THE STATE

Happenings of Interest From Different Sections.

Thirteen-year-old Alexander Adams of Stowe has piled 11 1/2 cords of shingles working nights and mornings while attending school the past seven weeks.

Rev. Mr. Buckingham of Plainville, Conn., has accepted the call extended to him by the Baptist church of Montgomery Center and will begin his pastorate here August 4.

The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Burritt was celebrated Monday at the old Burritt homestead in Hinesburg by a gathering of about 50 relatives and friends. A collation was served, and a generous purse presented.

Clarence, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. George LaForest of Northfield, got badly burned Sunday. The lad, with several other children, was playing with matches and in some manner the back of his Indian suit caught fire, and his back and legs were badly burned before the flames were extinguished. The boy is confined to the bed and his condition is quite serious.

The stiff wind Saturday evening resulted in at least one serious accident at Burlington. Miss Anna O'Brien, daughter of Michael O'Brien, was going to her home, and when nearly there was struck on the head by a large limb of a tree, which became loosened by the wind. The girl was knocked insensible and Monday was in a very serious condition. An examination by physicians, however, showed that her skull was not fractured.

Walter H. Green of Windsor, a machinist, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with the clerk of the United States court in this city. His liabilities are $204.50, unsecured, and his assets are $131, of which $50 is claimed exempt. Frederick A. Thompson of Fairfax, a farmer, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, giving his liabilities $854.04, of which $592.44 is unsecured, and his assets at $1,073, of which $495 is claimed exempt.

A serious accident took place near Algiers in Guilford Saturday afternoon, while Charles Hutchinson was driving a pair of oxen attached to a truck upon which his wife and daughter, Mrs. Ernest Starkey, and little child were riding. The animals became frightened and ran away, throwing the occupants from the forward bank of the truck. Mrs. Hutchinson sustained a broken shoulder and minor injuries. Mrs. Starkey was badly cut on one leg and had other injuries. The child escaped with slight bruises.

Local Forecaster W. A. Shaw of the United States weather bureau at Northfield reports a mean temperature for June of 57 degrees, the normal temperature for the month being 63 degrees. The highest was 83 degrees on the 24th, and the lowest was 30 degrees on the 10th. The greatest daily range was 40 degrees on the 10th, and the least daily range was 11 degrees, on the 16th. The precipitation amounted to 1.05 inches, the normal precipitation for the month being 2.33 inches. The month was made up of 10 clear, 15 partly cloudy and five cloudy days. Rain in quantity sufficient to measure fell on 11 days. A solar halo was noted on the 1st, fog on the 11th, a light frost on the 14th, and heavy frosts on the 8th and 10th. Thunderstorms occurred on the 24, 4th, 10th and 26th.

Tribute to "Fighting Parson."

A $10,000 monument in memory of "Fighting Parson" Dewey will be erected at Old Bennington on the site of the first church built in Vermont. The provisional design of a monument submitted by a New York artist has been accepted by the Bennington Battle Monument and Historical association.

The figure of Parson Dewey will be eight feet three inches in height, in bronze, and clad in the conventional garb of a clergyman of the colonial period. The figure will stand on a boulder secured in Bennington. The parson will hold a large open Bible in his hand, his finger pointing to a passage in the book. Around a stump will be an axe and a gun, weapons which the ministers of the time often took to church with them.

It is proposed to dedicate the monument on or before August, 1913.

Taxing Credulity.

We came upon the automobile standing upon the brow of the hill.

"Broken down," we say to the chauffeur.

"No, sir," he responds.

"Out of gasoline?"

"No, sir, we have plenty."

"Tire punctured?"

"No, sir. The tires are in perfect condition."

"Lost your way?"

"No, sir. The country hereabouts is very familiar."

"Dropped something from the automobile?"

"No, sir. Nothing of the sort."

"Then why are you standing here? Why are you not shooting down the hill and across the level at a terrific speed?"

"I do not care to do that," says the owner of the machine, who has been silent until this moment. "I had my automobile stopped here so that I might enjoy the magnificent view from this elevation."

With a frightened glance at him, we turn and hasten to the nearest town to warn officials that an evidently insane person is at large in an automobile.

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With the New Drug.

An eminent skin specialist recently discovered a new drug, othine—double strength, which is so uniformly successful in removing freckles, and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by any first-class druggist in the city of Barre under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first night's use will show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely. It is absolutely harmless, and cannot injure the most tender skin.

Be sure to ask any first-class druggist in the city of Barre for the double strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

An Idle Fancy.

The old-fashioned robin sings sweetly and long not far from an old-fashioned rose.

The perfume so soft seems to blend with the song.

And gently invite to repose.

Forgot is the tumult. Unheard is the shout.

Where men with a resolute din

Are seeking to usher their old troubles out.

And perhaps usher new troubles in.

We gratefully welcome each influence brought

To lighten life's burden of care;

The sturdy oration, the delicate thought

That make this existence more fair.

And I thought that I heard from some voice far away.

That scarce interrupted a doze.

"Hurrah for the robin whose song is so gay!"

And "Three cheers for the old-fashioned rose!"

—Washington Star.
